From My Heart...

On February 18, 1952, the S.S. Pendleton was caught in a brutal winter storm generating 60-foot waves that slammed into the 500-foot tanker. The seas became so intense that it split the ship in two. The captain and six others were in the forward part of the ship; the other 32 in the aft as the two sections began drifting apart.

When the distress call came into the Coast Guard station, the station's commander turned to a 24-year-old Bernie Webber and told him to take a boat out and attempt a rescue. Webber asked for volunteers who would go. Three other men, all younger than Webber, quickly stepped forward.

Someone spoke up and told Webber it was a suicide mission to take a 36-foot boat into the most intense storm to rock the Massachusetts coast in decades. He turned back and said, "We're the Coast Guard. You have to go out, but you don't have to come back."

The little boat was pounded by the frigid waves as it rose six stories in the dead of night then plummeted down the other side. Webber piloted the boat to the wreckage and in heavy seas rescued the men of the Pendleton one-by-one. With a total of 35 people squeezed into a 12-man lifeboat, Webber then found his way back to shore. The rescue of the survivors of the shipwrecked Pendleton is considered one of the most daring rescues in the history of the United States Coast Guard. The story was made into a movie in 2016 titled, "The Finest Hours."

There are untold numbers of people who are spiritually shipwrecked all around us. Most don't even realize the eternal disaster they're facing. They are slammed by wave after wave of moral relativity. They are grasping for something to save them. The call is coming in. "Mayday! Mayday! This is an emergency!"

Woodland Hills, God has rallied us for a rescue mission. It's not going to be easy. It could be dangerous. We must go out, and there is no guarantee we'll come back. However, I believe 2018 could be our "Finest Hour."

Preparing People for the Coming Lord,
