From My Heart...

I was getting ready to enter High School in 1967 when the musical "Good News" was first produced. Our Youth Choir did this. It has a song in it entitled "Sunday's Child." A young man plays the part of a reactor. That is, he hears the Christian message and he reacts...

"Hold it, wait a minute! Wait just a second!

I've been sitting there and watching. OK, bring on the show! Remember to make it good – there's always TV you know. Thus far I've been impressed, but I'll be a little bold.

This thing called Christianity, it leaves me cold!"

I've got some friends who are Christians and they go to church every Sunday. But boy, you ought to see them on Monday!"

Sunday's Child, don't be a Sunday's Child.

On Sunday he is quite a Saint –

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, Saturday a Saint, he ain't!

Church members are often accused of not living up to their Profession of Faith. It is a valid and true charge. I don't consistently live up to what I preach. I suspect you don't consistently live up to what I preach either. This sobering and discouraging truth will drive you to despair. Paul had the same thoughts. Paul said, "Now I haven't gotten there. I am not perfect, but being found full of Him is my goal. It's my all. It's what I strain for." (3:12-14)

Yes, when we Christians are called "hypocritical" by others there's always enough truth in that charge to hurt. But we are not near so hypocritical as some who call us hypocrites. The most inconsistent and harmful people in our society are those hypocrites who pretend they don't need God. They hide their miserable condition. They feed the hunger in their heart with the worldly lust, drugs, luxury, alcohol, pornography, etc...

It is much better to be the struggling Christian who falls in the world's filth yet keeps coming back than the poor creature trying to convince himself that dirt is clean and moral failure is success.

Bro. Charles
