From My Heart.....

Comedian Jack Benny, from TV's Golden age, had a skit which illustrated how we place money ahead of everything. He is walking down the street when suddenly he is approached by an armed robber, "Your money or your life!" There is a long pause. Jack Benny does nothing. The robber impatiently queried, "Well?" Jack replied, "Don't rush me, I'm thinking it over."

Jesus was teaching to a large crowd in Galilee. A young man called out from the crowd and said: Rabbi, tell my brother to divide the inheritance of our father." Now, Jewish law clearly prescribed that at the death of a father, the elder son received 2/3 of the inheritance, and the young son received 1/3. This is obviously a younger son who is complaining that life is not fair! Nothing will divide brothers and sisters more than dividing up an estate. It was that way then...it's still that way today! Jesus refused to get involved in a petty family squabble.

He then illustrated this point by telling a story found in Luke 12. There was once a man who had an unbroken run of prosperity. In today's language, he had successfully played the stock market. He became so prosperous that his barns could not hold all of his crops. His solution was to tear down these barns and build bigger and better barns. Then, with his financial security in hand, he could sit back and truly enjoy life. His philosophy was: eat, drink, and be merry.

I'd be lying if I told you when I read this, I get a little envious! Here's a man that's successful financially and it seems he just continues to get richer and richer. I know money won't buy you happiness, but it will buy a boat and a truck to pull it with. That definitely counts for something! But Jesus concluded the story by saying that this man was a fool.

The issue before us this morning is the same issue as back then: what did this man do wrong? Answer...He Had Full Barns, but an Empty Heart. Nothing wrong with having full barns, just don't do it at the expense of having an empty heart!

Bro. Charles
