From My Heart...

An apple grower had built up a good mail order business and was justifiably proud of his product. His apples were wonderful - crisp, juicy, bright red, and shiny as a carefully polished brass rail. His customers came to expect only the best in taste and appearance.

Then one year, a hailstorm occurred just before the harvest. Nearly every apple was marred by hail. The apple grower had thousands of orders and checks, and his customers were fully expecting baskets and boxes of his bountiful fruit for the holiday season. He had a problem. If he sent out the pock-marked fruit, he would have thousands of dissatisfied customers, and his business would suffer - perhaps even dry up. The problem was in the appearance of the apples. How could he turn his liability into an asset?

The fact was, they tasted great. The taste was better than normal because cold weather improves the flavor of apples when they are approaching ripeness. So the grower decided to fill the orders he had. But with each shipment, he enclosed a card that said, "Note the hail marks that have caused minor skin blemishes on some of these apples. They are proof of their growth at a high mountain altitude where the sudden chills from hailstorms help firm the flesh, develop the fruit sugars, and give these apples their incomparable flavor."

Nobody sent the apples back. And the next year, the apple grower got orders with many notes expressing a preference for hail-marked apples rather than unblemished ones.

This is the attitude we should have. Problems are possibilities and obstacles are opportunities because, "I can do all things through Christ who gives me strength," Philippians 4:13.

It is obvious that America, our churches, our schools, our homes are passing through times of great challenge. Difficult times are opportunities for the church to practice the promises of God. Romans 4:20-21 says that in a time of crisis Abraham responded in faith. God's Word says, "He did not waver at the promise of God through unbelief, but was strengthened in faith, giving glory to God, and being fully convinced that what He had promised, He was also able to perform."

If our joy is based on the economy, when the stock market is down, we will be depressed and down. But if the joy of the Lord is our strength, we can still be joyful...no matter what the circumstances are!

Scripture of the Month

"Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

1 Corinthians 15:58

Information Sheets

There are tables set up in the Fellowship Hall for everyone to fill out information about yourself and families. We are trying to get a new database for Mason Creek. This is vitally important to our communication and building a church. We do not sell or give out information.
